

Did you know

Unifor represents over 11,000 Energy workers across Canada with over 4200 workers at various Suncor Sites, and approximately 3500 of those workers (Base Plant, Firebag and East Tank Farm) are in Northern AB. Unifor Local 707A has been representing workers since 1967, and as Suncor expanded, so has Unifor with workers at Firebag joining in 2007 and the East Tank Farm joining in 2016.

You can make your job better

The Northern Alberta Oils Sands gave birth to Suncor- one of the top Energy companies in the Canada. With the hard work of all employees, Suncor has grown into a worldwide competitor in the oil and gas sector. Suncor has announced billion dollar profits in the past two quarters, so it is important that the front line workers share in that success.

Fort Hills could be the next Unionized Suncor site..... and it starts with YOU!!

Expressing interest to a union organizer is the first step in bringing the union advantage to your workplace. These emails will be used as a tool for information and communication for Fort Hills' workers about the process of unionizing the site and what the advantages could be.

Oil workers do better with a union

According to Suncor's spending and production outlook program for 2018, the main goal is to increase production while decreasing spending. This will only mean more downward pressure on front line workers and their families. It's time to end the Boom and Bust cycle for Energy workers. It is more important than ever to have Union representation to level out the waves of such inconsistencies.
